CHEVELAND CATTLE MARKET.

Sales of Ws. Brereton's Patrons Street.

PRICE:

BEEF.—These are sold by the head at a price equal to the value of $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. of the estimated weight of the head in the quarters. The Hide and Tallow "G. 1/2 quarter" is not counted.

CLEVELAND, June 9, 1858.

REMARKS:

Buyers were REDUCED and most of the stock was disposed of before 11 o'clock A. M., at full price. We believe that this system of supplying live stock to the public will eventually give universal satisfaction in this and the adjoining vicinity. Thus far the project has been exceedingly successful, and all that are interested in the Cleveland cattle sales will continue their patronage as usual.

This undertaking, although yet in its infancy, will ultimately become a great and important source of wealth.

M. B. Smith, owner and director, will take entire charge that W. N. Smith of this city will stock for all who wish, on the most reasonable terms.

CINCINNATI PRODUCE MARKET.

TUESDAY EVENING, June 9.

The market for Provisions is exceedingly dull and prices little better than nominal.

Meat—Bacon, ham, etc., have increased about $100 but the market is still at that rate and the tendency is towards lower prices.

Whisky is firm at 18c with a demand fully equal to the receipts.

In the Grocery market there is a moderate business doing and prices remain steady.

Meat—Pork, mutton and tongue continue dull and the demand is exceedingly limited. Rates of Exchange are stationary.
